

Interference from the powerlines is already a problem in many areas of the US...Broadband over the powerlines will only add to the interference problems that plague the radio and television services.